MRG METZGER REAL ESTATE GROUP

A Reliable Partner with Ethical Principles

Real estate is among the central values of national wealth worldwide. Whether in the private field or in business, in the branch of production or in the field of public assets - property values are always of an outstanding magnitude.

ETHICS, SECURITY, TRUST, transparency, respect and independence - those are the core values that define how Metzger Real Estate Group approaches their business. Based on these solid values, MRG is recognized as a competent player in the market - not only in Austria, but internationally. The ever closer connection of real estate and finance resulted in many areas of the company going in a new direction. The exclusive focus on the core business of real estate valuation and advisory however remains in place, which guarantees absolute independence and objectivity for all of MRG's clients. Especially in times like these, it shows how important it is to have an independent and reliable partner for fundamental assets such as real estate.

MRG is characterized by a high degree of professional competence, national and international know-how and visionary thinking. Prof. Alfons Metzger is actively involved in strengthening the basis of real estate as an internationally recognized asset value by holding a leading position with international valuation organizations. In early 2010, he was called to the Real Estate Advisory Group of the United Nations. Alongside other selected and renowned international real estate experts, he will bring his experience and know-how, collected throughout decades, to a working group. The goal is to develop the basis for a worldwide real estate rating system that includes calculation models as well as ethical core values.

Knowledge and understanding of the overall international economy, highly competent and academically trained employees, and a dynamic, market-oriented continuous development of its own products has transformed Metzger Real Estate Group into a company that enjoys great acceptance in the market. This in turn makes them a reliable partner with ethical principles.
